A NEW MAJOR IN MUSIC

The Humanities Division continued to expand its curricular offerings with the introduction of a Music Education major in the Department of Music this fall. Dr. Cooper reported he was pleased with an initial enrollment of seven students in the new program.

The new curriculum has been designed to prepare majors with the first two years toward a degree in Music Education. Although initial concentration is being placed upon the voice as a performing instrument, practice rooms have been built also for piano. Once the new pianos arrive on campus, a major concentration will be available in piano for students.

VOICE AND PIANO ARE THE LATEST HUMANITIES CURRICULAR OFFERINGS

Amelia Brown practices piano under Dr. Cooper's direction.

Majors Anthony Evans, Lorene Allen, Margaret Gilmore, and Tracy Jefferson observe Dr. Cooper's practical example of music theory.

Tracy Jefferson practices voice under the direction of Clara Porter.

COMPUTER TECHNOLOGY COMES TO UJC

As a result of the recent installation of IBM's 1130 Computer System, the Director of the Computer Center, William Walker, announced the initiation of two new curricular programs in computer technology. Data Processing has been designed to provide two years study resulting in an Associate of Science degree. Computer Science provides the first two years required for transfer to a university degree program.

COACH MARY ROBBINS

Coach Robbins enters her third season at Utica Junior College with a 26 won-24 lost record. Miss Robbins has a wealth of experiences to import to the Bulldogettes: she was All-State in high school, All-State in junior college two years, All-Mississippi Valley three years, AAU National Foul Shooting Champion, three years professional basketball, and All-American.

UJC WINS BY ONE POINT! RIVAL CO-LIN DEFEATED

The Bulldogettes narrowly defeated their old rival Co-Lin in one of the most exciting games of the season. Hinds Junior College hosted the pre-season tournament which saw Utica lose 58-71 to Southwestern on the opening night of play.

Bouncing back, the UJC women's team displayed their outstanding skill and determination against rival Co-Lin in a game which changed leads several times before the final horn. Final score, Utica 64, Co-Lin 63.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

January 27, 1978

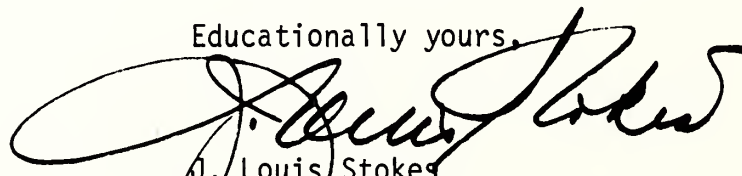

Faculty, Staff, Students and Friends...

...There are historic moments in the development of every entity that deserve special attention, so it is with the publication of this yearbook. We take special notice of Utica Junior College arriving at its "diamond jubilee." This enunciation proclaims seventy-five years of educational service to the citizens of this district and this State.

This "Diamond Jubilee" distinction brings about a sense of pride, honor and humility in all of those (faculty, staff and students) who accepted the resolve to better the plight of mankind. It tells us that we devoutly merit the confidence that has been reposed in us by our fellow humans. Our fervent prayer is that educational institutions which address these needs will continue to exist seventy-five years from now.

We congratulate all who gave lavishly of themselves toward the completion of this publication.

Educationally yours,

J. Louis Stokes
President

OPERA SOUTH'S PRESENTATION FOR THE FALL IS "Jubilee"

In order to give their students an opportunity to work with professionals, to provide a showcase for young Americans, and to present opera to new audiences, a group of traditionally black institutions established Opera South in 1971. Since its inception, Opera South has presented two operas every year.

The fall production of "Jubilee" by composer Ulysses Kay was based upon the novel of the same name written by Margaret Walker. Donald Dorr created the libretto and Ian Strasfogel directed. Opera South signed Paul Freeman of the Detroit Symphony as conductor.

UTICA FRESHMAN WINS FEATURED ROLE IN OPERA

Tracy Jefferson, a freshman music major at Utica Junior College and a voice student of Clara Porter, captured a featured role in the fall production of "Jubilee". Winning through highly competitive auditions, the Hazlehurst native sang the lead role of Jim, Vyrle's son.

Tracy Jefferson rehearses under the direction of Clara Porter as Dr. Bobby Cooper provides the music.

THE STORY OF "Jubilee"

ACT I

Christmas Eve, 1859: guests celebrate John Dutton's daughter Lillian's engagement to Kevin MacDougall. But Vry Dutton, John's daughter by his slave mistress, is prohibited from marriage to Randall Ware to whom she has borne a son. Vry rejects escape without her son.

July, 1860: Vry finally agrees to escape. Randall, waiting, urges assembled slaves to insurrection but the meeting is discovered and bloodily put down. Randall escapes unaware that Vry has been captured. In a concluding Fourth of July tableau featuring the public hanging of a slave, Vry is viciously flogged as a runaway.

ACT II

Spring, 1865: war sweeps the South. Kevin is dead; Vry and Lillian alone remain of the Duttons. Federal troops proclaim freedom to the few remaining slaves, among whom is Innis Brown. Lillian, reduced to destitution and savagely attacked by a looter, grows mentally disordered. With her son Jim also dependent upon her, and having no trace of Randall, Vry consents to marry Innis.

ACT III

Summer, 1870: the hard search for independence in the backwash of war creates hostility between Jim and Innis. Randall Ware arrives to demand his son. Vry pleads for love and understanding, baring the scars of her flogging. Reconciliation is effected. Jim leaves with Randall for schooling. Vry and Innis rely on maturing love to face an unknown but hopeful future.

Lillian Dutton (Gail Nelson) and Kevin MacDougall (David Britton) embrace in a moving scene from the opera "Jubilee".

The gallows scene in Act I featuring the public hanging of a slave accused of poisoning her master and the flogging of Vry as a runaway slave.

“Jubilee”

..... ACCLAIMED AS BLACK “GONE WITH THE WIND”

Federal troops have proclaimed freedom to the slaves on the Dutton plantation and Innis Brown (Rayam) leads the chorus in a jubilant response. U.J.C. students shown with Curtis Rayam are Lavern Griffin, Eugene Purry, Cleophas Henderson, Leontyne Smith, and Greg Curry.

The disoriented Lillian (Nelson) points a threatening gun at slaves on the Dutton Plantation while Vvry (Hirsh) attempts reason. Uticanites featured in the scene are Barbara Epps, Robie Welch, Dolphette Banks, Shirley Pope, Luella Smith, and Betty Rials.

Vvry Dutton (Norma Hirsh) is shown trying to comfort her half-sister Lillian (Gail Nelson) who is growing more mentally disordered in a scene from Act II.

HOMECOMING AT U.J.C.

THE PARADE

THE TRADITIONAL U.J.C. HOMECOMING PARADE THROUGH DOWNTOWN UTICA WAS THE LARGEST AND MOST ATTRACTIVE EVER. NUMEROUS GAILY DECORATED FLOATS AND INVITED BANDS COMBINED TO THRILL AND ENTERTAIN THE SPECTATORS. SCORES OF LOCAL TOWNSPEOPLE TURNED OUT FOR THE GALA OCCASION.

CORONATION

Homecoming celebration festivities officially began October 6 with the annual Coronation Ball held in the college gymnasium. "Feelings" was the theme for the gala event and music for dancing was provided by the "Sonic Funk."

Luella Smith, a sophomore from Edwards, was crowned the 1977 Homecoming Queen by U.J.C. President J. Louis Stokes amid an array of splendor. Queens from various campus clubs and organizations were a part of the Royal Court.

"THE LIFE OF A KING"

Uticanites had a most unusual and fortunate opportunity to witness the dramatic presentation of "The Life of a King" during Black History Week. The four act drama, written by Rev. Arthur Langford, Jr. in 1969, vividly portrayed aspects of the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The drama opened with scenes from the famous bus confrontation that lead to the Montgomery boycott and moved through important civil rights events in Dr. King's life until his untimely shooting death in Memphis. "The Life of a King" has been praised by critics for its realism and charismatic presentation. The U.J.C. event was certainly no exception and was judged outstanding!

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

In a far cornered room on the second floor of the Campus Union exists the office of THE UTICANITE, in which the process of creating a yearbook goes on. However, it seems that about the only time most students are aware of its existence is when the book is being distributed or when they voice their complaints.

Some people look through a yearbook once or twice to find their picture (if they bothered to have it made), while others never bother to pick them up or to make arrangements to have the book mailed to them.

But the appreciated yearbooks are those which are taken out often and the pages turned slowly as pictures recall those days "we thought would never end." And it is that frequent trip down memory lane that makes the whole process of creating a yearbook worthwhile.

It was the purpose of this editor and staff to capture those moments of the year 1977-78 and put them together in a yearbook that would please you, the students. Our thanks is extended to our advisor, Mr. McCarty, for his suggestions on design and layout; Mr. Porter, for his untiring efforts in photography; Mr. Bell, for his help in identifying students; and Mrs. Donaldson, for her valuable critiques and advice in writing.

As you turn the pages, I hope you can feel the spirit that reigned at UJC this year and maybe even discover a candid shot of yourself somewhere along the way.

Luella Smith
Editor
